

Introducing you to COMMSPRO

The Media, Entertainment & Arts Alliance is Australia's largest and most established union and industry advocate for workers in the media and communications sector.

Who are you? You work as media and public relations officers, social media officers, digital communicators, copywriters, website or multimedia producers, speechwriters and combinations of those jobs.

What type of work do you want? A job which has fair conditions, where your skills are respected, and you have the tools to excel.

To cater specifically for workers in communications, MEAA has developed a new membership called CommsPro.

To help you achieve your goals, the MEAA CommsPro community organises:

- Quarterly skills workshops and career development days in Sydney and Melbourne.
- An annual awards night to recognise excellence.
- Women's mentoring program (through Women in Media).
- Actions, activities and advocacy to win and protect good jobs in our sector.

If your workplace is represented industrially by another union, the rate is just $6 a week. For everyone else the rate is $10 (or $6 if you work part-time) a week.

To join online, go to meaa.org/join

Need more information?

Phone: 1300 656 513

Email: members@meaa.org

Web: meaa.org

f facebook.com/withMEAA t @withMEAA

