Each state must be represented on the NSAB.

Following an application for Stunt Actor, Safety Consultant/Supervisor, Assistant Stunt Coordinator or Stunt Coordinator being rejected, the applicant can ask the presiding Industrial Relations Commissioner to review the application. The Commissioner may either reject the application or refer the application back to the National Stunt Committees with a recommendation.

The grounds of review are:

a) Unreasonable refusal by a Stunt Coordinator to provide a recommendation;
b) Failure of a National Stunt Committee to apply the Stunt Grading Process.

If the Commissioner refers the application back to the National Stunt Committees, and the application is again rejected, the matter could be referred to the NSAB for acceptance or rejection. The NSAB shall observe the rules of natural justice, shall meet by telephone hook-up, if necessary, and shall be empowered to request any or all information it considers necessary to reach a decision.

The NSAB shall consider written reports from the applicant and the National Stunt Committees rejecting the application.

The application presented to the Commissioner and the NSAB shall be unchanged from the application originally presented to the National Stunt Committees.
