

Accountants – Arts & Media Workers Victoria

The following accountants deal frequently with tax returns for arts & media workers.

You should discuss with them in advance the costs of doing your return, as these may vary according to your particular circumstances.

Obviously cost will be one, but not the only, consideration in your determination of which accountant you choose.

This list does not constitute a recommendation by MEAA but simply an advice to members of accountants we are aware of who have experience in taxation and the performing arts and media industries.
